

Roads of Democracy(ies)

2009-2010

List of Research Interests of Potential Supervisors

Marta Araújo (PhD in the Sociology of Education) (CES)

Cultural and religious diversity; Equality and public policies; School selection and differentiation processes; Racisms and Eurocentrism.

Giovanni Allegretti (Ph.D. in Urban, Territorial and Environmental Planning) (CES)

Mediation processes of 'social dialogue'; Active citizenship; Analysis of public spaces; Cities networks; Decentralisation; Development of 'space's statements'; Dialogue between urban movement and local/regional institutions; Immigration and public spaces; Informal town; Informal town and self production of the habitat; Local institutions; municipal participatory budgeting (Europe, Latin America, Africa e Asia).

Rui Bebiano (PhD in Modern and Contemporary Cultural and Political History) (FLUC)

History of Radical Left; History, Memory and Representations; Contemporary images and imaginaries; Politics of Silence.

José Castro Caldas (PhD - Economics, Choice and Institutions) (CES)

Institutional Economics; Morality and the Economy; Personal and collective deliberation

Isabel Caldeira (PhD in American Literature) (FLUC)

20th-century Fiction by African American women; African American Modernism; Cultural Identities in the African Diaspora

Maria José Canelo (PhD in American Studies) (FLUC)

Literary magazines; Modernism; Nation

Graça Capinha (PhD in American Literature) (FLUC)

American Studies; Contemporary Poetics and Poetry; Identities; Immigrant Poets; Politics of Language; Sociology of Culture and Literature

Xavier Carpentier-Tanguy (Doctorate in History) (CES)

Comparative study of the euro-based think-tanks; Design Economy and the European Arena; Discourses on the Knowledge Based Economy

Laura Centemeri (PhD in Economic Sociology) (CES)

Citizens Participation in Disaster Policies; common pool resources management; Risk perception and communication; Sociology of Risk

Hermes Costa (PhD in Sociology) (FEUC)

Processes of globalisation and regionalisation of trade unionism; European Work Councils and labour relations; Workers participation in multinationals.

Elísio Estanque (PhD in Sociology) (FEUC)

Higher education, youth and cultural practices; Labour relations and trade unionism; sociology of organizations.

António Casimiro Ferreira (PhD in Sociology) (FEUC)

Labour relations; Social Theory; Sociology of Law; Sociology of Politics

Claudino Ferreira (PhD in Sociology) (FEUC)

Cultural mediation; Cultural policies; Cultural projects in urban context; Tourism, leisure and lifestyles

Virgínia Ferreira (PhD in Sociology) (FEUC)

Socio-Economics of Paternity and Maternity; Sociology of Gender Relations and Policies of Equal Opportunities in a Comparative Perspective

Carlos Fortuna (PhD in Sociology) (FEUC)

Politics, Heritage and Urban Modernization; Tourism and Cultrual Practices; Urbanism, cities and segregation.

Catarina Frade (PhD in Law) (FEUC)

Financial education; Endowment and super-endowment of consumers; Regulation of Risks; Food Security.

Maria Raquel Freire (PhD in International Relations) (FEUC)

Peacekeeping and peacebuilding; Russian foreign and domestic policies.

Pedro Hespanha (PhD in Sociology) (FEUC)

Social citizenship and crisis of welfare State; Globalization, uneasiness and conflictuality; micro-entrepreneurship and solidary economics; Policy analysis; Social Risks, integration and marginalization.

Clara Keating (PhD in Modern English Language and Linguistics) (FLUC)

Discourse and institutions; Linguistic ethnography; Literacies; Multilingualism and migration; Situated learning and the transfer of knowledges; Theories of discourse;

Paula Duarte Lopes (PhD in Political Science and International Relations) (FEUC)

Peace studies; Environmental governance; international water politics and development aid.

Silvia Maeso (PhD in Political Science and Sociology) (CES)

Construction processes of collective identities; cultural diversity, human rights and equality; youths, culture and politics; migrations and social processes of urban space transformation; religious diversity and citizenship in Southern Europe.

José Manuel Mendes (PhD in Sociology) (FEUC)

Social inequalities; Identities; Social Movements and political participation; Public policies; Risk and Social Vulnerability.

Maria Paula Meneses (Ph.D. in Anthropology) (CES)

Colonialism/Post-colonialism; Identity processes; Intermedicines; Legal Plurality; Production and Representation of Knowledges; Traditional Authorities

João Arriscado Nunes (PhD in Sociology) (FEUC)

Democracy, citizenship and participation; Social studies of science and technology, particularly in biomedical research and life sciences and public health, in the relation between science and other modes of knowledge; Studies on public policies and public participation in domains related to science and technology, the environment and health

Paulo Peixoto (PhD in Sociology) (FEUC)

Urban Cultures; Intervention on historical centres; Heritage.

Tiago Santos Pereira (DPhil in Science and Technology Policy Studies) (CES)

Interaction between European research and technological development and national dynamics – implications for the European socio-economic cohesion; Research institutions and IPR; S&T Indicators; Science and governance - the participation of new actors in research and innovation; Science and technology in the global context.

Sílvia Portugal (PhD in Sociology) (FEUC)

Women's Studies; Family policies; Social policies; Networks of informal support; Familial solidarities.

José Manuel Pureza (PhD in Sociology) (FEUC)

New actors and procedures of peacebuilding; prevention and management of armed conflicts; Post-conflict reconstruction.

José Reis (PhD in Economics) (FEUC)

Institutionalism, State and Governance; Economics of Territories.

António Sousa Ribeiro (PhD in German Literature) (FLUC)

Translation Studies; European Studies; Studies of Post-colonialism; Studies on Modernism; Violence, culture and identities.

Margarida Calafate Ribeiro (PhD in Portuguese Studies) (CES)

Identities and postcolonial studies; Memory and post-memory; Colonial War; Women and War.

Cecília MacDowell Santos (PhD in Sociology) (CES)

Political memory and justice in Brazil; (Trans)national Juridical mobilization and human rights building; Violence against women, women's movements and State; Violence, indigenous struggles and human rights.

Mathias Thaler (PhD in Philosophy) (CES)

Cosmopolitanism; political judgment; methodology of the social sciences; normativity

Clemens Zobel (PhD in Social Anthropology) (CES)

Comparative study of decentralization processes in Sub-Saharan Africa and Europe (Mali, Mozambique, France and Portugal); Micro-sociology of deliberative spaces and practices; Local Policies and ideological legitimating; Diaspora networks and local policies.