3. Go to the Citizen Shop

THE CITIZEN SHOP (“Loja do Cidadão”) is a kind of one stop shop where citizens can find and access to a wide range of public services in one single location. It is here that you should:

1. Ask for the residence permit

Non-EU citizens must ask for their temporary residence permit at the Foreign Office (“SEF – Serviço de Estrangeiros e Fronteiras”) within the maximum time limit of 90 days. If they fail to do this, they’ll be considered illegal and have to pay a fine.

The temporary residence permit request must have the following documents:

- Temporary residence permit form (specific form available in the SEF website)
- Study visa
- 2 passport type photos
- Copy of passport
- Proof of subsistence means
- Proof of address in Portugal
- Request for search of criminal record by SEF
- Proof of enrolment at the University
- Health insurance

While you don’t have your residence permit you must always carry out your passport and visa with you whenever you travel inside Portugal or the European countries of the Schengen Area. Once you have your residence permit, you can only carry out your identification document/passport.
> Further information at www.sef.pt

> ATTENTION: European citizens have to ask for a Certificate of Register of European Union Citizen at the Coimbra City Hall (“Câmara Municipal de Coimbra”).

2. Request the Tax Identification Number (“NIF”)

NIF stands for “Número de Identificação Fiscal” and it is the Portuguese tax identification number. It serves to identify a body or a person when requested by the taxation authorities. At the Citizen Shop you can request the NIF to the Finance Service (the Portuguese Taxation and Customs Authority of the Ministry of Finance and Public Administration), upon presentation of your passport and proof of address in Coimbra.

The NIF is acquired for free and generated immediately at the time of the request. It is necessary to open a bank account, to acquire and pay for goods and services (internet, telephone, etc.).

These operations can be made in any ATM machine, without any charges, independently of the bank where you have your account.

If you need to open a bank account, you can do it for instance in one of the banks located near the university campuses or residences for easier management of your daily life, even though bank account management via internet is becoming a common practice.

The documents required for the opening of a bank account are:

- passport;

- proof of enrolment;
- residence permit;
- proof of subsistence during your stay (for instance a scholarship or personal savings)
5. Register in the health centre

TO BENEFIT FROM PUBLIC MEDICAL ASSISTANCE you have to register in the health centre of your area of residence in Coimbra. The residence permit issued by SEF and the identification document are needed for the registration. After registering, the health centre services will give you a health service user number (“número de utente”) and you’ll be able to have access to the medical services of the Portuguese National Health Service (SNS).

If you’re coming from a non-European country with which the Portuguese State has celebrated an international agreement on health and social security, you should also show the certified statement, issued in your home country, which gives you the right of access to medical care in Portugal (for instance, the PB4 Form, in the case of citizens from Brazil).

If you’re coming from a country of the European Union, the European Economic Area or from Switzerland, you should present your European Health Insurance Card.

In the other cases, you should present your private health insurance.

The legal taxes in force will be applied according to each situation.

The city and the university are classified as World Heritage since June 2013 and are a daily stage where the ideas, the arts, the books, the films, the exhibitions and several performances take place. The City Festivities, the Arts Festival, the jazz festival “Jazz ao Centro” and the Cultural Week of the University of Coimbra are just a few examples of the events that take place every year and are really worth to see.

Academic traditions and student festivities

THE UNIVERSITY OF COIMBRA keeps alive a set of traditions and symbolic practices, whose origins are lost in the University’s seven hundred years of history. These are illustrated by several official academic ceremonies (the ceremony for the swearing in of the Rector, the official opening of the academic year, the doctoral examinations, the academic processions of the teaching staff which take place in the Schools’ Courtyard, proceeding from the Joanine Library to the Great Hall, among others), in which the participants use traditional university uniforms
(“traje académico”) and symbols such as the insignias featuring the different colours of each faculty. The descriptions of these ceremonies in the various ancient University bylaws clearly show the permanence and persistence of these traditions, which have survived the various institutional reforms whilst continuing to adapt and develop over time.

Student culture has adapted the academic processions and transferred them to the streets of the city. Although they are more recent and spontaneous, they are still important to the collective university imaginary. This is the case of the student processions of the “Festa das Latas” and “Queima das Fitas”.

The “Festa das Latas” or “Latada” which celebrates admission to the university and the start of the academic year is the first festivity of the newly arrived students. It takes place every year in October and gained its name from the use of metal objects to produce a noise (“lata” = tin). This festivity is preceded by several sport and cultural activities, such as music bands’ contests and university competitions, which aim to stimulate the party spirit of the new students and make them closer to the Students’ Union. During seven nights, several music shows take place at “Praça da Canção”, where university and non-university students from different Portuguese regions join together to watch the performances that enliven the party nights.

In the days before and during this festivity, the older students organise activities for the new students (called “caloiros”), who enter the University for the first time. This set of activities is called “praxe” and it has an irreverent, gushing and mocking nature, whose contents may sometimes be considered offensive or excessive. The participation of students in the “paxe” is entirely voluntary, therefore the ones that feel uncomfortable with it can choose not to take part.
The “Queima das Fitas” festivity celebrates the end of the academic year and the graduation of students that finish their studies in that year. It takes place every year in May and starts with a special ritual in which students burn ribbons (= “fitas”) of eight colours, corresponding to the eight faculties. These ribbons represent the ribbons that once were used to tie books together. This festivity lasts one week and includes a parade, ceremonies, such as the “benção das pastas” at the Saint Michael Chapel (mass in which the traditional black leather folders of the graduate students are blessed), several shows at “Praça da Canção” down in the city Green Park, the Graduation Ball, among other events.

The Serenades are also considered part of the student tradition, together with the Coimbra Song, a unique musical genre mainly performed by students and former students of the University of Coimbra.
03. LIVING IN PORTUGAL
PORTUGAL, A HISTORICAL COUNTRY IN A MODERN EUROPE

PORTUGAL WAS FOUNDED IN 1143 and it is one of the oldest in Europe, whose borders have been kept almost unchanged since the 13th century.

Located in the extreme southwest of Europe, Portugal is constituted by the continental territory and two Autonomous Regions, the archipelagos of Madeira and Azores (“ Açores”). The Continent is divided in 18 districts. Portugal’s total area is of 92,152 Km² and there are around 10 million inhabitants. The Portuguese Republic borders the North and the East of Spain and has an extensive maritime coastline at the South and West that is bathed by the Atlantic Ocean.

Portugal has a mild climate with over 3,000 hours of sun per year and 1,200 km of coastline. It has a dazzling variety of landscapes, from snowy mountains to Mediterranean beaches and the Atlantic archipelagos of Madeira and Azores.

Until 5 October 1910, when the Portuguese Republic was established, the Portuguese dynasties contributed significantly to the creation of maritime routes and commercial and cultural exchange channels between Europe, America, Africa and Asia. In 1926, the parliamentary regime was replaced by a military dictatorship giving origin to the so-called “Estado Novo” in 1933. Only on 25 April 1974, the democratic regime was restored and, mostly due to it, the independence was granted to the Portu-
The Portuguese Republic joined the European Community in 1986 and today is one of the 28 member countries of the European Union, with high levels of growth and relevant political roles in several European and world organisations.

Transports

Bus and metro

THE URBAN TRANSPORTS are available in all cities, are cheap and function efficiently and usually on time. The urban transport network includes mainly buses in the main cities. In Lisbon and Porto, there is also the metro.

Taxis

IN THE MAJORITY OF THE CITIES OF THE COUNTRY, you can stop a taxi in the streets by making a call sign with your hand, get one in a taxi stop or use the Radio-Taxi service. Portuguese taxis are either of a crème colour or black and green.

The price is indicated in the taximeter and the fares are affixed inside the vehicle or available for consultation upon request to the driver. Calling a taxi implies the payment of a small fare and the transport of luggage an additional fare independently of the number of pieces and their weight.
Trains

PORTUGAL HAS AROUND 3600 KM of railways. The CP service – Trains of Portugal – has an extensive network of trains that cover the whole continental national territory. It has also train connections to Vigo, Madrid and Paris.

There are several options:
• the express trains called “ALFA PENDULAR” that are the fastest and the most confortable connections between Lisbon and Algarve and the North of the country, such as Porto or Braga, with an intermediate stop at Coimbra.

• the intercity trains called “INTERCIDADES” stop also at Coimbra and serve the connections: Lisbon-Porto-Guimarães, Lisbon-Guarda, Lisbon-Covilhã, Lisbon-Évora-Beja and Lisbon-Faro.

• the SUD-EXPRESS train and the LUSITÂNIA HOTEL-TRAIN serve the international connections with departure from Lisbon.

04. LIVING IN COIMBRA
COIMBRA, A UNIVERSITY CITY

STUDYING AND LIVING IN COIMBRA is an exciting and enriching experience. The University and the city live in a special symbiosis, which makes student life in Coimbra a unique experience.

The city has remnants of 2,000 years of history, buildings that date back to the times of the Roman Empire but also internationally renowned modern buildings. Capital of the Portuguese Kingdom in bygone ages and meeting point of several cultures, Coimbra combines a rich architectonic and historical heritage with modern facilities for the arts and sports and green, open-air spaces.

Geography, history, shopping and leisure

COIMBRA IS THE CAPITAL OF THE COIMBRA DISTRICT, the largest city of Portugal Mainland region. It is located in the sub-region of the Lower Mondego and it has around 150,000 inhabitants.

Six Portuguese kings were born in Coimbra. The city is also the home of the oldest university in the country and the third oldest university in Europe: the University of Coimbra that was founded in 1290.
Some monuments of the city are expressive of the importance of the history of the city in the country. In the Santa Cruz Church, right at the heart of the city, one can visit the tombs of the first two kings of Portugal: D. Afonso Henriques and D. Sancho I. In the Santa Clara-a-Nova Monastery, there’s the tomb of the Queen Saint Isabel that is the patron of the city.

In the uptown area (“Alta”) one can find more emblematic monuments: the Sé Velha Cathedral, some buildings of the University of Coimbra and its several surrounding Colleges. The downtown area (“Baixa”) has also several important monuments and is a traditional centre of commerce, with restaurants, cafés, bakeries and patisseries, and a variety of little shops with traditional products.

The River Mondego crosses the city and its margins are good places to be in contact with nature and open-air sports. It is in one of these margins that the “Parque Verde” (the city Green Park) is located. It is an area for relaxation, entertainment and sports, where the river water, the greenery and the privileged sight of the uptown area of the city and its nearby monuments are a feast for the eyes and the soul. Especially in the downtown area, there are a lot of trees, parks, gardens and public squares. Coimbra also has some forest reserves such as the “Mata do Choupal” and the Botanical Garden.

In Coimbra there are two major shopping centres with supermarket, large shops with national and international world-known brands, services and cinema rooms:

- Dolce Vita
  (www.dolcevita.pt)
- Forum Coimbra
  (www.forum-coimbra.com)
Besides these two shopping centres, there are also other commercial facilities spread all over the city, which offer varied shopping, gastronomic and leisure options such as the:

- Atrium Solum
  (atriumsolumcentrocomercial.pt/lojas.html)
- Girassolum
  (www.facebook.com/girasolum)
- Coimbra Shopping
  (www.coimbrashopping.pt/)

The Coimbra City Stadium was built in 2003. It is located in the Solum neighbourhood and has a seating-capacity of 30,000 people. The Stadium is in close proximity of the Dolce Vita Shopping Centre and its main football team is the “Académica de Coimbra”. Besides sport events, the Stadium receives also large cultural and music shows.

Several museums, theatres and art galleries are available throughout the city.

Housing and accommodation

ROOMS, HOUSES OR FLATS FOR RENT can be found in newspaper ads or through licensed real estate agencies. The rent contracts normally are for a minimum of six months. It is common that the landlords ask for 2 months rent in advance, corresponding to the first and the last months of the rent.

Prices are very diverse (from 180€ to 750€ per month, excluding the bills of water, heating, electricity supply, phone and internet) according to the type of accommodation (number of rooms, furniture and other equipment) and its location. The most expensive accommodation is usually located in the city centre.

Contrarily to rooms for renting, most houses and flats are not furnished, although they may have closets and an equipped kitchen. It is very rare to find houses in Portugal with heating, especially if the buildings are not recent.

Health and safety

THE WELFARE SERVICES of the University of Coimbra offer several services to the university community, namely medical, preventive and screening assistance in its facilities located in the campus 1.

There are a number of public health units in the city, namely the hospitals of the University of Coimbra (CHUC), the largest health care centre in Portugal, and several pharmacies that sell prescribed and non-prescribed medicines and other health products.
The security forces of the city include the Municipal Police, the Public Security Police and the Judiciary Police. The Municipal Police is a service of the City Hall that enhances the interaction and the protection of the citizens. The Public Security Police is an armed police force that is public service oriented. The Judiciary Police has criminal investigation competences.

The city also has civil protection services and fire fighters involved in the prevention of risks and rescue operations.

Communications

Telephones and mobile phones

To call to your country from Portugal you have to dial 00 and the corresponding international code. Calls can be made using a phone card you can insert in public telephones or by mobile phone. There are special price plans for different countries.

In Portugal there are several mobile operators such as Vodafone, NOS, Meo and Cabovisão. You can easily find one of these in shops inside the shopping centres. You can buy pre or post paid phone cards for your mobile phone or buy a mobile phone with one of those cards. You should look carefully at the price plans offered by each shop to see which is best for your communication needs.

These operators offer also internet and tv services in case you need to acquire these services on your own (for instance if you live outside a university residence or if these services are not provided in the residence).
Internet

Inside the different University campuses there is wireless internet connection provided by the Eduroam network. Several cafés, restaurants and shopping centres have also free wireless internet connections available. You can also buy portable internet services or devices in most communication and electronic equipment stores.

The bus lines that serve the different campuses of the University of Coimbra are:

- Polo I: 28, 34, 103
- Polo II: 34, 38
- Polo III: 6, 7, 7T, 29, 37
To reach the main Shopping Centres you can use the buses 5, 7T, 11, 24, 26 and 34 to the Dolce Vita and the buses 14 and 38 to the Forum Coimbra.

Inside the city there are two train stations (“Estação Nova” or “Estação Coimbra-A” and “Estação Velha” or “Estação Coimbra-B”) and a terminal of express intercity buses, from where you can travel to other cities and towns of the country from the North to the South.
