

BIOSKETCH

Herman Autrup, Professor PhD

Professor Herman Autrup has a MSc in organic chemistry from University of Copenhagen, Denmark (1971), and a PhD in experimental pathology, University of Nairobi, Kenya (1975). He worked at National Cancer Institute, Bethesda MD 1975-1983 as a head of section, Laboratory of Human Carcinogenesis, before becoming head of Laboratory, Environmental Carcinogenesis, Danish Cancer Society, Copenhagen (1984-1990). In 1990 he was appointed professor in environmental medicine, School of Public Health, University of Aarhus, Denmark.

He was elected member of the Danish Academy of Technical Sciences in 1997. He has served on many international and national committees in the area of cancer research and toxicology. He has member of the IARC scientific advisory board and is currently member of the Governing Council.

Herman Autrup has published more than 195 papers in international peer-reviewed journals and more than 50 contributions to books and meeting proceedings

Research interests include molecular epidemiology with focus on molecular markers of exposure and genetic susceptibility, and is currently involved in nanotoxicology.