TRAVEL INFORMATION

HOW TO REACH COIMBRA

Portuguese international airports have regular flights to major European destinations and to many cities worldwide. The nearest airports are located in Lisbon (190 km away from Coimbra) and in Oporto (120 km away from Coimbra).

From Lisboa \(Humberto Delgado\) International Airport

By Train

Take a taxi or the subway from Lisbon airport to the railway station "Lisbon-Oriente" (Red Line, 3 stops). Trains to "Coimbra B" run often and you should expect the journey to take approximately 2 hours. The train ticket (Alfa Pendular or Intercidades) may vary between €12 and €24,10 (tourist), depending on the choice you make. See CP - train schedules.

There are two railway stations in Coimbra: Coimbra A ("The New Station") and Coimbra-B ("The Old Station"). All trains stop at Coimbra B. Once there, you can take a train connection to Coimbra-A, closer to the city center (your train ticket already includes this short trip).

By bus

Take a taxi to "Sete Rios" Bus Station. Express buses to Coimbra run frequently and you should expect the journey to take approximately 2h30.

See CP - train schedules.

By bus

Take the subway (line E) to the "24 de Agosto" Stop (30 minutes). From there, walk to the Bus Station at the Campo 24 de Agosto Street, n.º 125" (2 minutes). Express buses to Coimbra run every hour and you should expect the journey to take approximately 1h30. Check tickets and schedules.
