Dear readers, welcome to SUPERAnews!

Despite the unprecedented context we are all immersed in, SUPERA continues to generate relevant project outcomes: a survey on the impact of the Covid-19 crisis on working conditions and academic performance, two upcoming webinars for RFOs, new GEPs approved, among which two fully available for everyone's consultation. Last, but not least: have you already had the chance to watch our new institutional video? Share your impressions and... #JoinUs!

You are more than welcome to share these contents to everyone that might be interested. For every update, follow us on Twitter, Facebook and Instagram or send us an email.

Enjoy your reading!
Working conditions, time usage and academic performance in Covid-19 times: preliminary UCM survey results

Maria Bustelo, Paula de Dios Ruiz and Lorena Pajares – Universidad Complutense de Madrid

As part of the planned work at the SUPERA project, the UCM team had started to design a study on gender roles and academic time usage when the Covid-19 crisis broke out last March. This initial idea turned into a specific survey of how gender roles apply to situations of lockdown for academics and researchers. [read more]
SUPERA is launching a series of webinars and online workshops to facilitate experience exchanges between Research Funding Organisations that develop - or plan to develop - a Gender Equality policy. The first two webinars will take place on 13 and 18 November, 2020: registration is open. [read more]

---

Design, discuss, approve! The path of UNICA towards the GEP publication

Luigi Raffo and Ester Cois, University of Cagliari

The Academic Senate and the Board of the University of Cagliari has approved the Gender Equality Plan designed in the framework of SUPERA. Here’s the main highlights of the process that led to such an important milestone. [read more]
Overcoming gender gaps in research funding organisations: RAS approves its Gender Equality Plan

By the Autonomous Region of Sardinia

The Autonomous Region of Sardinia has approved its first GEP as an operational tool aimed at intervening on gender issues in the research field in Sardinia, with a special attention on the Regional Law n.7/2007 for research and innovation, which currently has no reference to gender policies. [read more]

The Central European University GEP now available
In May 2020, the Central European University has approved its first Gender Equality Plan. Now the document is fully available for consultation. [read more]

Join us! The institutional SUPERA video is online
Manuela Aru and Paola Carboni, University of Cagliari

The SUPERA values, methods and key action areas are now available in a new format to anyone interested in getting to know more about gender equality in research organisations: the SUPERA institutional video is online! [read more]

SUPERA project has received funding from the European Union's Horizon 2020 research and innovation programme under grant agreement No. 787829

Visit our website
All the contents are distributed under a Creative Commons Attribution-ShareAlike 4.0 International license (CC BY-SA 4.0).

The SUPERA privacy policy is available here.